Emilie Dionne Is Buried in Rural Cemetery

Only Family and Villagers Take Part;
Many Tourists Watch

CORBELL, Ont. (AP) — Emilie Dionne, one of the quintuplets whose fame brought fortune and sadness, was buried today in a remote rural cemetery.

Only the four other members of the famous five whose birth stirred the world 20 years ago, the grieving parents, other members of the immediate family and perhaps 200 villagers took part in the ceremony.

Several hundred tourists watched from a distance.

Emilie died from epileptic seizures in Ste. Agathe, Que., last Friday.

A Solemn Requiem High Mass was sung by the Rev. W. H. (Tim) LaFrance, Corbell's parish priest, at one of three altars used in the funeral rites. Two other priests, Fathers Gustave Sauve and Marcel Belanger, both of Ottawa, assisted at altars on either side of the main altar where the girl's coffin stood.

Quint's Sister Papa Dionne The other quint's sister, Papa Dionne, and his weeping wife, whose surprise delivery of five babies put this part of Canada on world maps as a tourist attraction for two decades.

Crowds lined the narrow, winding road to the church soon after the gray, chilly dawn broke over the red brick facade and the tiny community of Corbell which it serves. An estimated 200 cars, many with American licenses, were parked nearby as visitors drove uphill to the church area to see the cortege move in and out of the church.

Emilie's gray steel and bronze coffin, covered with a black cloth on which was worked a golden cross, was carried into and out of the church by four of her brothers and two brothers-in-law. They were Ernest, Ernest, Daniel, Victor, and brothers-in-law Maurice Girouard and Thomas Callaghan.

The parents sat in the first pew. Between them sat the youngest Dionne child, Claude, 7. The surviving quintuplets wore black dresses, small black hats and low-heeled black shoes.

Crowd Smaller at Grave The small crowd of mourners who gathered for the funeral in the graveyard ceremonies in the cemetery of the Parish of the Sacred Heart.

North Bay, a town of 20,000 and the nearest major community to Corbell and Callander, where the quint's were born, looked like a tourist mecca as the funeral hour neared. A woman clerk at the town's largest hotel said, however, that was not unusual.

"We always get crowds of tourists up here in the summer," she said. "Apart from about 30 newspapermen here to cover the funeral we haven't noticed much difference. Most of the tourists would be going over to see the Dionne place anyway."

The presence of Emilie's body in the huge living room of the Dionne mansion drew crowds until after dark on Sunday. Then, as today, Ontario provincial police guarded the immediate area and tried to separate the sincerely grieving from the merely curious.

The grave is beside her paternal grandparents and an older brother, Leo, who died in infancy.

Seizure Preceded Death Emilie died Friday in a Catholic rest home near Ste. Agathe, Que., after suffering an epileptic seizure. She was 20 years old.

Her epilepsy was a closely guarded family secret, confirmed for the first time by an autopsy report.

More than 5,000 persons filed past Emilie's bier Sunday to pay their final respects. Many had waited for hours in the rain before gaining admittance to the Dionne mansion.

Emilie wore a powder blue dress with lace collar. A white crucifix and rosary beads were clasped in her hands. Banks of flowers surrounded the bronze casket.

Many visitors knelt to pray while others whispered words of consolation to the grief-stricken mother who sat nearby in silence.

MISS SALINE COUNTY OF 1954—Miss Eugenia Gollhier, seated, was selected as Queen of the 1954 Beauty Pageant, held Saturday night at the Saline County Fairgrounds. The beauty show, sponsored annually by the Harrisburg Jaycees, was staged before a large crowd in attendance at the closing program of the 1954 Saline County Fair. At left is Miss Norma Simpson, winner of second place and at right is Tom Davenport, chairman of the contest for the Jaycees. There were nineteen contestants and all were presented with loving cups. In addition to the Beauty Pageant there was an automobile show on the Saturday night program, with several Saline county dealers displaying the latest in automobiles. Robert Rushing was chairman of the automobile show.

Miss Eugenia Gollhier is Crowned Miss Saline County as Fair Closes

Miss Eugenia Gollhier of Harrisburg was crowned Miss Saline County of 1954 Saturday night before a large crowd attending the closing session of the Saline County Fair.

Miss Gollhier was selected as Queen of the annual beauty contest sponsored by the Harrisburg Jaycees from a group of nineteen contestants. She is the daughter of Mrs. Velma Gollhier, was winner of third place in the 1953 beauty contest and last fall was crowned Queen of the Harrisburg Township homecoming celebration.

Winner of second place in Saturday night's contest was Miss Norma Simpson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cloyd Simpson, 646 West Barnett street, Harrisburg.

Eligible for State Contest Miss Mary Anne Humm, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Humm, 202 South Main street, Harrisburg, was winner of third place.

Four out-of-town people were the judges for the contest, using a point system based on five factors.

To determine the winner. Points were scored as follows: Personality 15 points, poise 15 points, posture 20 points, proportion 25 points and features 25 points. Following the contests points were added and it was found that Miss Gollhier had the highest point total and was declared the winner.

She will be eligible to enter the Miss Illinois contest in 1955 if she is unmarried at that time. If eligible for the state-wide beauty contest, Miss Gollhier will be sponsored in the show by the local Jaycees.

Illinois Queens A former Miss Illinois and the present queen were included in the group of four judges. Miss Illinois of 1944, Mrs. Robert Mueller of Mt. Vernon and Miss Illinois of 1954, Miss Pat Bruce of Fairfield along with Mrs. Margaret Joyner, in the cosmetics department of Stix, Baer and Fuller, St. Louis and Lloyd Reed, president of the Cairo Jaycees, were the judges.

Along with the beauty contest was an automobile show, featuring the latest models in automobiles shown by several Saline county dealers.

The beauty show is divided into two parts, the girls first parade before the judges in formal attire and later in bathing suits. Between the two appearances the automobile show is staged.

The program, scheduled for 8 p. m., started just about on time and progressed smoothly throughout.

Miss Illinois to be Teacher The girls made their first appearance before the large crowd riding in open convertible automobiles. In the first car was Miss Pat Bruce, Miss Illinois of 1954.

Congo Pump Is Started Again

The Congo pump, which has been running most of the time since the heavy rains of Saturday, July 31, was started again late Sunday afternoon.

Rains north of Harrisburg caused Middle Fork creek to rise to a point allowing the resumption of pumping by the Congo, which pours approximately 900 gallons of water a minute into the reservoir.

Offer Reward for Poisoner of Seeing-Eye Dogs

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — The American Kennel Club offered a $500 reward for information on the poisoner who killed eight seeing eye dogs.

Fifteen other German Shepherd dogs were stricken and were under a veterinarian's care today.

The dogs died Saturday after eating strychnine-poisoned weiners. Small chunks of weiners were found in feeding areas off the LaSalle kennels, each with a dose of deadly poison. Authorities said that the meat was probably thrown over the fence, apparently by someone familiar with the area.

Loss of the dogs, which were trained to guide the blind, was estimated at $20,000 by trainer John Snykin.

Offers of aid and messages of sympathy arrived the kennel from at least a dozen states. The kennel is operated by the non-profit Master Eye Foundation, Minneapolis.

Union Stunned By Studebaker Threat to Close

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—Union leaders hoped to find an answer today to the Studebaker company's threat to stop 11,000 workers' jobs unless they accept a pay cut.

Rank and file Studebaker employees were stunned at the company's announcement that it would be forced to cancel its contract with the CIO United Auto Workers and close its plant in 60 days.

The company said Friday this was the only alternative unless employees agreed to accept the pay cut and thus put the firm in a better competitive position.

The executive council of UAW Local 5 scheduled a meeting today to decide on the next move. Local officials have urged the members to take the pay cut, but the workers rejected it in a Thursday night meeting.

William Ogden, former local president and a leader against the pay cut, said "We are willing to go out to help Studebaker, but we want to see it done fairly and squarely."

He said local officials had done a "poor job of negotiating" and the company asked concessions which had little to do with its competitive position.

Studebaker, South Bend's main industry, has been losing ground in the tightening auto market, officials said. An $8,925,800 loss was recorded for the first six months of the year, temporary production shutdowns have been numerous, and employees' salaries have been averaging $35 a week.

Airliner Hits Mountain in Azores; 30 Dead

Three Americans,
Including Woman,
On Colombian Plane

ANGARA DO HEROISMO, The Azores (AP) — Thirty persons, including a woman and two men identified as Americans, were killed today in the flaming crash of a Colombian airliner into the side of a mountain of these Mid-Atlantic islands.

American and Portuguese ambulance crews reached the site of the crash and reported all 21 passengers and nine crewmen dead.

Colombiano Avianca, owners of the plane, said the three Americans were Herbert W. Hoskins, the plane's engineer, and Franklin and Gertrude Prager, passengers en route from Paris to Barranquilla, Colombia.

Children Remained Home Prager, 38, was vice president of the Kaunitz and O'Brien firm of importers and exporters. He and his wife lived in New York City with their three children, who remained in New York while their parents went abroad. Hopkins' home was said to be in Colombia, but his wife was reported to be at a summer camp near Alton, N. H.

The crashing plane ripped a smoking hole in the slopes of Pico da Cruz, high in the Sawtooth Mountains above this seaport on the Azores island of Terceira.

Col. H. L. Smith, American commander of the Lagens American Portuguese Air Base said: "The 30 aboard all died instantly. The plane was a tangle of junk."

He said representatives of Pan American Airways, which represents the Colombian Airline in the Azores, opened an immediate investigation into the cause of the crash.

Plunges Into Mountain The plane crashed into the mountain after taking off from the U. S. Portuguese base at Lagens shortly after 1:40 a. m.

The plane had tried to land at Santa Maria, usual stopover for commercial airliners in the Azores, but thick fog prevented a landing there and the aircraft touched down at the U. S. Portuguese base.

Fog also forced two American commercial airliners to land at Lagens.

The Colombian airliner was on a westward flight from Hamburg, Germany, to Bogota and had stopped at Frankfurt, Paris, Madrid and Lisbon before landing in the Azores.

Miss Margaret Klein Among Group from Rosary College to Study in Switzerland

Miss Margaret Klein, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. J. J. Klein, who has completed two years at Rosary college near River Forest, will leave Thursday, Aug. 26, for Switzerland where she will enter her junior year at the University of Friburg.

Miss Klein will be in a group of 24 other young ladies from Rosary college who will sail on the French liner, "Liberte." When they arrive in Europe they will spend two weeks in Paris, France, and three weeks touring Italy.

During the Christmas and Easter vacations Margaret plans to spend her time in Bavaria, Germany, with her mother's relatives.

School does not begin at the University of Friburg until the middle of October. The girls will stay at the Villa des Fougères which is a place especially provided for American students.

All subjects at school will be taught in French; therefore, pupils must have at least two years of this language before going abroad to study. Among Margaret's subjects will be French, in which she is majoring, German, history and philosophy courses.

The main activity in Switzerland is walking and sight seeing, Miss Klein has learned, and if she can "get up enough courage" she plans to learn to ski.

She will leave for the states again on August 1, 1955, but before returning home will spend one week in London, England.

Primaries Tomorrow are Highlighted by Glen Taylor Bid, Nebraska Free-for-All

WASHINGTON (AP) — A comeback bid by former Democratic Sen. Glen H. Taylor in Idaho and a Republican senatorial free-for-all in Nebraska highlight primary contests Tuesday.

And in Arkansas, voters will choose Tuesday between Gov. Francis Cherry, seeking a second term, and Orval Faubus, Huntsville newspaper publisher, in a heated runoff primary that is equivalent to election in the Democratic state.

Because of the deaths in office this year of GOP Sens. Hugh Butler and Dwight Griswold, Nebraska voters have the unusual opportunity of balloting on three separate Senate races at the same time. They are:

1. A short term completing the final eight weeks of the term Griswold was serving when he died April 12. A field of 16 is bidding for the title of senator for only those 80 days.

2. The regular six-year term to be filled this year.

3. The remaining four years of the term Butler was serving when he died July 1. Republican Rep. Roman Hruska and Democrat James Green, an Omaha attorney, are unopposed for their party nominations.

10 Seek One Nomination The free-for-all is for the six-year term. It attracted seven Republicans and three Democrats.

The GOP field includes Gov. Robert Crosby, Rep. Carl T. Curtis, former State Republican Chairman David Martin, and Terry Carpenter, a former Democratic congressman who has switched party affiliations.

Democratic candidates for the long-term nomination are 70-year-old Keith Neville, the "boy" governor of Nebraska during World War I; Joseph Benesch, an Omaha attorney, and Edward A. Dosek, a Lincoln insurance executive.

With Crosby running for the Senate, a field of seven also jumped into the race for the Republican nomination for governor. The pacesetters are Victor Anderson, former mayor of Lincoln, and Frederick H. Wagener, Lincoln attorney.

A four-way race for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination featured a spirited battle between William Ritchie, a conservative, and Patrick Heaton, who had the backing of most of the regular state organization.

Taylor, a guitar-strumming singer of cowboy songs, was the vice presidential running mate of Henry A. Wallace in the Progressive ticket in 1948. He is making a bid for the Idaho Democratic nomination to return to the Senate where he served from 1945 to 1951.

His Two Opponents Taylor's opponents in the Democratic primary are Claude J. Bartenshaw, a political science professor who beat him in 1950, and Alvin V. McCormack, a northern Idaho farmer.

On the Republican ticket, incumbent Sen. Henry C. Dworshak is opposed by Les Lambson, a high school art teacher who spiced his campaign with a 48-hour hunger strike on the state Capitol steps at Boise. Lambson said it was a protest against a "smear" campaign concerning his membership in the United World Federalists which his opponents labeled as subversive.

For governor of Idaho, Republicans will choose from former Rep. John Sanborn, Atty. Gen. Robert E. Smylie and Mayor Larry Gardner of Coeur d'Alene. Democratic hopefuls are Charles Gossett, former senator and governor; State Sen. Clark Hamilton; Prosecutor Carl Nielsen and Joseph McNew, a railroad.

Except for Curtis and Hruska running for the Senate, the incumbent members of Congress from Nebraska and Idaho are all candidates for reelection, and most have no primary opposition.

Donors Urged To Give Blood To Bloodmobile

Saline county residents are again reminded that the Bloodmobile will be in Harrisburg tomorrow, Aug. 10, from 12 noon to 6 p. m. at the Elks lodge, and in Carrier Mills Wednesday, Aug. 11, at the Masonic temple from 12 to 6 p. m.

Donors are urged to give blood since the present supply is barely enough to meet the increased blood needs which have accumulated during the summer months.

Charlie Pingleton, 61, Former Resident, Dies in Florida

Charlie Pingleton, 61, former resident of Saline county, died Saturday at 3:30 p. m. in Bay Pine veterans hospital near St. Petersburg, Fla., where he had been a patient for 14 years.

He was a corporal in the army in World War I and received injuries in France causing him to be hospitalized. Previous to entering Bay Pine hospital he was at Biloxi, Miss.

He was the son of the late Jesse W. and Amanda Grable Pingleton, who lived north of Raleigh.

Surviving are the following brothers and sisters: Joe, Pine Bluff, Ark.; Jim, Grand Tower, John, of Raleigh, Guy, St. Louis, Mo.; Mrs. Molly Upchurch, Raleigh, Mrs. Minnie Cox, Murphysboro, Mrs. Daisy Rude, Owensboro, Ky., and Mrs. Bess Reed, Pine Bluff, Ark.

A sister, Mrs. Fannie Bush, Harrisburg, preceded him in death. The body will be returned to Harrisburg and be received by the Harrisburg funeral service. Time of arrival and funeral plans are indefinite.

Brother of Mrs. Connie VanderPluym Dies at Petersburg, Ind.

Word has been received in Harrisburg by Mrs. Connie VanderPluym of the death of her brother, Bernard Marsee, Petersburg, Ind.

Mr. Marsee, who was a former Harrisburg resident, being employed as an engineer with the Big Creek Coal company for several years, died at his home at 7 a. m. today from a heart ailment. He was 55 years of age.

He is also survived by a brother, Tom Marsee, Petersburg.

Mr. and Mrs. VanderPluym plan to go to Petersburg this afternoon to remain until after the funeral. Funeral plans were not completed at the time of their departure.

Benson Warns Of Profits by High Supports

Secretary Predicts
'Flexible' Price
Bill Will Carry

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson said today there is "real danger" speculators will reap "substantial, possibly shocking, windfall profits" if Congress boosts dairy support prices.

Benson made the statement as the Senate moved toward a showdown vote today on the administration's proposal for flexible, and lower, support prices on basic crops.

Senate backers of high price supports claimed they had "no votes" to defeat the administration, but proponents of flexible prices thought otherwise.

Benson told a news conference there is evidence that processors and speculators have been stockpiling butter in recent months, "hoping to cash in on higher government supports."

Caution Against Windfall Profits Windfall profits "easily could amount to several million dollars," Benson said. It has been "common talk in certain circles that there is an opportunity to make some money," he added.

The government now supports dairy prices by purchasing butter, cheese, and non-fat milk solids from processors at 75 per cent of the "fair earning power" parity level.

Until last April 1, the rate had been 90 per cent of parity. The House vote of 1951 to boost supports back to 80 per cent of parity for the period between Sept. 1 and next April 1.

The Senate, in its overall farm bill, is considering a measure that would lift supports to 85 per cent of parity for a full year beginning Sept. 1 and would also grant authority for a House-approved plan by which butter would be sold in retail markets with a government subsidy to farmers, or processors making up the difference between market prices and support prices.

Predicts Flexible Plan Will Pass Benson predicted that the flexible support range of 80 to 90 per cent of parity on cotton, wheat, corn, rice, and peanuts "will likely carry" when it comes to a Senate vote today.

Key strategists supporting rigid 90 per cent of parity crop supports conceded they might not be able to beat the 82½ to 90 per cent plan.

A showdown price support issue was scheduled this afternoon as Senate debate on the farm bill entered its fifth day.

Other Congress highlights: INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS: A Special House committee on Communist aggression urged President Eisenhower to call an international conference to cut off all trade and diplomatic relations between the 82½ world and countries behind the Iron Curtain.

POST EXCHANGES: The American Retail Federation complained that military post exchanges and commissaries are engaged in unfair competition with private businesses. In a statement submitted to a Senate subcommittee on government operations, the federation reiterated charges that military stores fail to collect federal excise taxes, allow purchases by unauthorized customers, and disregard a 1949 agreement to limit its stocks and price reduction.

WIRETAP: The Senate Judiciary Committee, in a surprise move, tentatively voted to table an amended version of the administration's wiretap bill. The bill, pushed by the administration as part of Mr. Eisenhower's anti-Communist program would allow use in Federal Courts of evidence obtained by wiretapping in national security cases, under certain restrictions.

Night Watchman Fires at Prowler

City police report that Elvis Owens, night watchman at the Ford Brick and Tile company, took a couple of shots at a prowler Saturday night and is of the opinion that at least one shot found its mark.

When police investigated they were told by Owens someone was taking a spare tire from his automobile and started to run, when he fired and that on the second shot the person fell and screamed, then got to his feet and continued to run. The tire was found about 40 feet from the automobile, but there was no clue to identify the prowler.

Chickens, Gasoline Stolen from Farm

About 15 frying chickens and an undetermined number of gallons of gasoline were stolen Saturday night from the Carl Gates farm near Galatia, Deputy Sheriff Isham Threest stated today.

Rhee's Dilemma

Editorial By Bruce Bissot
President Syngman Rhee of Korea is an old man who has single-mindedly nursed the dream of unity for his country for a long time. He wants to see it realized in his lifetime, which he knows has but a few years to run.

That explains why he is so belligerent in his attitude toward the Communist rulers of China and North Korea. His position, as outlined to the American Congress, is crystal clear: he favors fighting a preventive war against the Communist world.

He believes in this course, with all the horror of atomic devastation it would bring, because he is realistic enough to understand that short of general war his country is unlikely to be unified in the foreseeable future.

Throughout the world, Rhee has many friends and admirers, who respect his courage and his furious concentration upon the goal of Korean unity. But probably none of them would agree with his fantastic plan for achieving that objective at the cost of a third world war deliberately contrived by the free nations.

Certainly the United States, which gave him the forum of the Congress to make his appeal, does not share his extreme views. The statement issued in Washington at the conclusion of Rhee's talks with President Eisenhower says nothing about joining hands in a colossal drive to shake the Communist grip on Asia. It merely says the two will continue cooperating as before.

The United States no less than Rhee is determined that the people of North Korea shall not be consigned callously to permanent Communist oblivion. But this country recognizes that in the years just ahead nothing very practical can be done about freeing them.

We could never launch a preventive war, even for far greater goals than a unified Korea. Our moral standards and our moral position in the world bar the way. So does the fact that we know we would be unleashing the most horrifying weapons man could conceivably employ in warfare.

Rhee appreciates that leaving the unification of Korea to the United Nations' diplomatic corps is a pretty empty thing. That's where it was before the Korean war began, and nothing happened. Nothing is likely to happen now.

We can sympathize with the old man in his sad dilemma. But we cannot accept his idea that we should risk bringing the house down in an effort to rebuild one of the back porches.

Step in Right Direction

In the past, the American Army has come in for much criticism on the ground that the ratio between combat forces and support units was extravagantly in favor of the latter. In other words, there were too many "chairborne" troops.

Therefore, it was good to hear that the Pentagon is fast reducing their numbers to bring them into better balance with combat forces.

By July 1 next year, according to the Pentagon, some 57 per cent of the 1,400,000 men in uniform will be fighting units, as compared with 47 per cent in 1953.

Armies tend naturally to be wasteful. The safety factor leads them to seek a surplus of both men and materiel. The U. S. Army is particularly lavish in these respects. No one imagines its support units can be cut to the spare levels found in Communist armies. But we can be thankful the military recognizes the problem and is making progress toward a solution.

Drew Pearson Says: New Look For Military Runs Into More Money; Senator Humphrey Gets Taken For Radio Ride; 16 Candidates Fight For Phantom Senate Seat.

WASHINGTON — While Congress has been sweating out its last hot weather convulsions, vitally important decisions are being made backstage in the Pentagon which will affect your pocketbook and future taxes.

The "new look" for the military definitely has been abandoned. Further military cuts are out of the window. The Eisenhower hope of balancing the budget is being chalked up privately as a sincere but hopeless hope.

The drastic revision in military planning has been made as the result of some gloomy reports on the international picture, plus the consistent hammering of Gen. Matt Ridgway that foodstuffs must continue to be important, despite the A-bomb.

One gloomy report comes from General James Van Fleet, former U. S. commander in Korea, who has been making a Far Eastern survey for Eisenhower. His military thinking coincides with that of Dr. Syngman Rhee—namely that the United States should resume war in Korea. This, of course, has been turned down.

But what cannot be ignored is Gen. Van Fleet's warning that the Chinese Reds are going to invade Formosa. If successful, this would mean that the last vestiges of the Chinese Nationalists would disappear and that the United States would have far less chance to bar Red China from the UN. Also, such an invasion would make ridiculous the much-publicized White House announcement last year, in fulfillment of a campaign promise, that the U. S. Seventh Fleet was being relieved of its job of keeping Chiang Kai-Shek from attacking the mainland. Henceforth he would be free to attack.

Now it develops, according to Gen. Van Fleet, that Formosa will have to be protected again after all, and that the idea of using Chiang's troops either in Korea or Indo-China was pure politics.

HUMPHREY GETS TAKEN
Frank Edwards, the AFL commentator, was staging one of his broadcasts from the radio press room of Congress during the famous filibuster. His guest was to be Sen. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota, a crusader against the bill giving control of atomic production to private industry.

Edwards was rehearsing his broadcast preparatory to going on the air at 10 p. m., as Senator Humphrey approached at 9:55 and peered through the glass door of the radio studio. Edwards had every appearance of being on the air. In fact, he kept reading the script aloud as the senator walked in. Edwards waved him to a chair, kept on talking.

"And now," he said, as he continued talking into the microphone, "I have a special guest tonight who will explain the Senate fight over atomic energy. He is Senator Humphrey of Minnesota, who is up for re-election this year and who seems to be adopting the policy of 'To hell with the people of Minnesota!'" Humphrey jumped from his chair as if someone had hit him.

It took him some moments to realize that it was only 9:55 and Edwards did not go on the air until 10 p. m.

EMPTY SENATE HONOR
Strangest Senate race of the year is for the unexpired term of the late Sen. Dwight Griswold, Nebraska Republican. His successor will serve only two months—November and December—at which time Senate is not in session. In other words, this two-month senator will never be sworn in, will never take his seat, and won't even have to go to Washington.

Yet 16 candidates have filed for the short-term office, and are busily campaigning up and down Nebraska. They are buying up advertising, sending out letters, making fantastic promises to the voters. Some are promising to follow President Eisenhower's policies; others are offering a more conservative platform.

Of course, the winner will never get an opportunity to carry out his election promises. Only candidate who is frankly admitting to the voters that he wants the job simply for the honor and prestige is Mac Baldrige, Nebraska—Republican, onetime popular congressman from Nebraska.

R. W. New Orleans — The Justice Department ruling that Texas is not permitted more than three miles of offshore tidelands oil — the same amount as the other coastal states — is based upon the boundaries delineated by Thomas Jefferson. This was fully explained by Jack Tait, State Department solicitor, during the tidelands oil hearings. He made it quite clear the United States was not going to recognize Texas' claim of 10 1/2 miles and that the 10 1/2 miles claim, though put forward by Spain and Mexico, at no time was recognized by the United States. Both Governor Shivers and Sen. Price Daniel must have known this at the time the tidelands oil bill was passed. Certainly it was made perfectly clear during the hearings.

Roger Touhy Ordered Freed From Prison

CHICAGO (UP)—Roger (The Terrible) Touhy, Prohibition Era gangster, today was ordered released from prison by a federal judge who said he believed Touhy was wrongfully convicted of kidnapping Jake (The Barber) Factor in 1932. U. S. Dist. Judge John P. Barnes not only vacated Touhy's original sentence of 99 years for kidnapping, but also a 199-year sentence the notorious gangster drew in 1943 after he and six henchmen staged a spectacular escape from the Illinois State Prison.

Government Will Appeal

Government attorneys said they would appeal Barnes' decision in an attempt to keep Touhy in prison for life.

Barnes' opinion in the case, which Touhy fought through state and federal courts for 20 years, ran 774 pages.

"I feel that this man should be released," Barnes said before he started reading his decision.

Barnes ordered Touhy released on $10,000 bond, posted by Touhy and his family, pending the government's appeal.

The court ruled that Section 92 of the Illinois law, under which Touhy was sentenced for aiding an escape of another prisoner, violated the 14th Amendment of the United States Constitution by denying equal protection under the laws.

After he was recaptured in 1943, Touhy was sentenced to 199 years for aiding the escape of Edward Darlak, a burglar and robber, who had been serving that term.

First Sentenced for Kidnap

Touhy originally was sentenced to 99 years in the state prison for the kidnap of Factor, accused as an international confidence man, who once boasted that he rose from a crap-shooting bootblack to a big-shot gambler who played roulette with the King of England.

Factor testified that Touhy and Basil Banghart, the chief machine-gunner in the Touhy mob, held him captive for 11 days in 1932 and subjected him to repeated indignities. They finally freed him, he said, on payment of $70,000 ransom.

At the time, Factor faced extradition to England on charges that he had perpetrated a seven-million-dollar swindle there.

During his long fight for freedom, Touhy charged that Factor conspired with his old arch-enemy, the late Al (Scarface) Capone, to

Girl Scout Chief Is Confident Of Public Support

NEW YORK (UP)—The Girl Scout organization said today it is confident the American people "will continue to find us worthy of their trust and support" despite the "unwarranted and unfair charges" by the Illinois department of the American Legion.

In a statement issued by its national president, Mrs. Roy E. Layton, the organization denied that publications by Communist authors had been reviewed in its publications. It said certain revisions had been made in the Girl Scout handbook where "the choice of words apparently led to a misinterpretation of our program."

A spokesman said an illustration of the Bill of Rights, which had been removed from the handbook because it was believed to be illegible, will be restored "in the interest of harmony." A Legion spokesman had objected to its deletion.

Mrs. Layton's statement said the Girl Scouts "reject the unwarranted and unfair charges which have been made about the Girl Scouts by the 1954 convention of the Illinois American

Local Golfers Lose at Carmi

A team of fourteen golfers from the Egyptian Golf association traveled to Carmi yesterday for a match with the Carmi County Club team, which Carmi won, 19-2. Results of the individual foursomes (local teams first):

Ira Stille and George Davis lost to Curran and Corwin, 2-1; Kenneth Davis and Bob Partain lost to Williams and Renfro, 2-1; Carl Rude and John Richard Small lost to Graves and Pierson, 3-0; Ray Rhinehart and Lowden Pankey lost to Witherspoon and Smith, 3-0; Bob Davis and Jack Davenport lost to Coale and Hopson, 3-0; Carroll Clark and J. B. Clark lost to Moyse and Schroeder, 3-0; and Gene Kimberlin and Louie Questelle lost to Collard and Kirk, 3-0.

The local team enjoyed the match very much in spite of the score, and managed to show some improvement over earlier team match scores. It is hoped to obtain a return match with the Carmi team on the local course in the near future.

Nash Defeats Negro Giants At Paducah, 5-2

The Nash baseball team traveled to Paducah Sunday afternoon and defeated the strong Negro Giants of Paducah by a 5-2 score.

Don Wallace, young fast-baller, was on the mound for Nash and allowed just six hits, retired seven on strikes and walked only one, allowing only four runners to reach second base. Bledig was behind the plate.

Fulkerson took hitting honors for Nash with three hits in four trips. Wallace had two for four and K. Nolen, Ziegler, Karnes, Sisky and Shewmake had one blow each to round out the attack.

Whiteside paced the losers, getting three hits in four attempts. Hodge was on the mound for the Giants, and was touched for ten hits, walked four and struck out eight.

Next Sunday, Aug. 15, Nash will play host to the Mt. Carmel Aces, reported to have a fine club.

Nash players will have practice sessions at Miner's Field at 5 p. m. Wednesday and Friday this week.

Bannister and Landy May Meet In New Mile Test

VANCOUVER, B. C. — Roger Bannister and John Landy, whose dramatic "mile of the century" duel brought the British Empire games to a brilliant climax on Saturday, may meet in a re-match in Switzerland later this month.

That possibility arose today even as the track world was hailing Saturday's races, won by the loose-limbed, hard-finisher Bannister in 3:58.8, as the greatest mile race of all time.

The chance of a re-match came in an announcement from the organizers of the European track and field games at Berne, Switzerland, Aug. 25-29, that they "will try to arrange another 'mile of the century' in an open post-championship meet somewhere in Switzerland."

Bannister already entered in the European games and is the favorite in the "metric mile." Landy, an Australian, isn't eligible to compete but plans to attend the games as a spectator.

Their presence in Switzerland at the same time probably would offer the last opportunity for bringing the two stars together again, judging from statements made by them today.

Bannister disclosed that, after competing in the European games, he plans to do very little competitive running at all. The newly-graduated English doctor said he is scheduled to start his internship in a London hospital soon and added, "there won't be much time for running."

Landy, on the other hand, plans to keep on running but doesn't plan any more European or American trips.

Landy Breaks Record
Although Bannister was the victor Saturday, with his amazing finishing surge that carried him to the tape four yards ahead of Landy, an oddity of the race was that Landy was the man who smashed a world record while finishing his mile in 3:59.6.

Bannister's 3:58.8 mile clocking narrowly missed Landy's world record of 3:58.0. But Landy, running in front as they passed the 1,500 meter mark, was timed in 3:41.9 for that distance — more than a second faster than the existing world record.

Landy said he knew he was licked when he looked back at the three-quarters and saw Bannister so close. I figured it was just a matter of time.

Barber Wins First Part of Tam O'Shanter

CHICAGO — The field was half-way home in Tam O'Shanter's double-barreled golf tournaments today, with veteran Jerry Barber, of La Canada, Calif., richer by $3,420 with the big payoff still to come.

Barber, a 38-year old who hadn't won a tournament since the Wilmington Open last year, engineered a three-under par 69 on his final round Sunday to come home with 277, 11 under par, in the final round of the "All American" Open and pick up the top tab.

But Barber, and all the rest of the field, would have been more willing to settle for the top award, which could reach $150,000, in the "world" event which opens Thursday with virtually the same field.

The victor in that 72-hole tangle will get $50,000 cash, and a contract for 100 exhibitions at $1,000 per show.

Barber, never far off the pace, triumphed for the preliminary award with a come-from-behind round. He started the day two strokes behind the leader, Peter Thomson, the British Open champion from Australia.

But after nine holes had been completed it was Gene Littler, a rookie from Palm Springs, Calif., in front, and Barber on his trail.

The outlook changed on the 14th, for there Littler blew a three-foot putt and Barber birdied to pull into a tie. On the next hole Barber birdied and Littler parred, and it was up to Thomson and Littler then.

Littler parred out to take second money of $2,360 with a 278, while Thomson gained third with a 73 for 279.

The win gave Barber earnings of $14,867 for the year, among the top five on the tourney tour.

Babe Zaharias, Chicago, won her fifth women's pro title in this tournament, despite an error on her scorecard which avoided disqualification for her only because the rules committee decided she was dragged away by photographers without adequate time to check the total.

She had a one-under-par 75 on the final day for a 294 total, the record for the "All American," but one stroke higher than the 293 she registered in winning the "World" event in 1951. Her prize was $1,000.

Mickey Wright, a Stanford sophomore from La Jolla, Calif., won the women's amateur with a 315 total, while Arnold Palmer, Cleveland, Ohio, posted the best round of the men amateurs on the last day, a 68, to take first prize of $150 in merchandise with a 285 mark. Frank Stranahan, Toledo, Ohio, who had won the last six men's amateur battles, finished with a 294.

Herrin Junior Legion Beats Kiwanis All-Stars

In the preliminary to the Merchants-Evansville Orkins game Sunday afternoon the Kiwanis All-Stars lost to the Herrin Junior Legion team, 9-4. Inability to field bunts led to the All-Stars' downfall.

Powell, pitching for the All-Stars, led 3-1 for the first four innings, allowing just three hits. Weatherly replaced him at the start of the fifth and was promptly greeted by the bunting technique of the Herrin team. Herrin picked up three runs in the fifth to take a one run lead but in the bottom half Harrisburg tied the score.

Herrin again scored five in the sixth, taking a 9-4 lead. Barger replaced Weatherly in the sixth and succeeded in stopping the Herrin attack.

Herrin garnered nine runs on nine hits while Harrisburg got four on seven hits. The Harrisburg All-Stars will play at Herrin in a return game.

The Herrin team lost to Belleville in the regional Junior Legion championship game and Belleville later won the state championship.

Indians Step Up Pennant Pace with Double Win; Braves Cut Giants' Lead

By FRED DOWNS
United Press Sports Writer

The Cleveland Indians' near-record pace opened up a four-game lead in the American league today and posed a startling new $64 question: Is it the New York Yankees who are folding this time?

It's been the Indians who were charged with sagging in the stretch in the past, with the Yankees coming on to win World Series gold. But the Indians actually have been stepping up their amazing pace this year and they're travelling faster than ever this month with a .778 percentage.

The Indians made it seven victories in nine games this month with 7-2 and 5-2 triumphs over the Philadelphia Athletics Sunday, picking up a game and a half when the Yankees bowed, 10-8, for their second straight loss to the Detroit Tigers. It was a bitter blow to the Yankees, who went West two weeks ago only a game and a half off the pace.

Lemon Hits Homer

Sunday's sweep also sent the Indians back over the 700 mark in won-and-lost percentage. Their current percentage of .704 is only 10 points behind the American league record of .714 set by the 1927 Yankees.

Bob Lemon hit a two-run homer and pitched a seven-hitter to score his 15th victory for the Indians in the opener while Art Houtteman gained his 11th triumph with a six-hitter in the nightcap. Larry Doby sent the Indians off to a 3-0 lead in the first inning of the second game with his 26th homer of the campaign—tops in the league.

The Tigers beat the Yankees for the second straight day when Jim Delsing, a former New Yorker, hit a two-run pinch homer in the 10th inning. The blow handed Johnny Sain his fourth loss and ended a three-hour and 20-minute struggle during which Mickey Mantle, Gil McDougald and Roy Boone also homered.

Dodgers Rout Reds

It was a day of heavy hitting all over the majors and it reached its peak when the Brooklyn Dodgers poured 13 runs over the plate in the eighth inning to rout the Cincinnati Redlegs, 20-7. Nineteen batters went to the plate in the big inning which gave Carl Erskine his 14th win and enabled the Dodgers to move within three games of the first-place New York Giants in the National league.

The Giants' losing streak mounted to four games when the red-hot Milwaukee Braves swept the three-game set with a 5-2 triumph behind the six-hit pitching of Warren Spahn. The Braves rallied to win their 14th decision in 16 games when Ed Mathews homered, Hank Aaron doubled, stole third and scored on Andy Pafko's single in the eighth inning. The homer was No. 30 for Mathews, putting him six behind Willie Mays' league-leading figure.

White Sox Rebound

The White Sox, still hoping to catch the Indians and Yankees, rebounded from a 7-6 loss to beat the Washington Senators, 3-0, and split their doubleheader. Roy Sievers hit his 20th and 21st homers for the Senators in the opener. Johnny Groh homered for the White Sox in the second game.

The Boston Red Sox scored two runs with the aid of shortstop Billy Hunter's error to beat the Baltimore Orioles, 4-2, in 11 innings and then completed a sweep with a 4-1 triumph as Frank Sullivan

Evansville Orkins Snap Merchants' Winning Streak

The Evansville Orkin Extremators snapped the Harrisburg Merchants' win streak at four straight as they trounced the local team, 7-3, on the town park diamond Sunday afternoon.

Lutz and Short, two former minor leaguers, led the visitors' attack with two and three hits respectively and Bob Williams led the locals' 7-hit attack with two singles.

Bill McNew hurled for the Merchants and Komonovsky was behind the plate. Meyers, a soft-throwing right hander, was on the mound for Evansville and Ferguson was the catcher.

The Merchants are idle next Sunday. The schedule for the remainder of the season is as follows:

Aug. 22, Paducah Giants, here; Aug. 29, Eldorado Merchants, here; Sept. 5, Johnston City, here; Sept. 6, Carterville, there; Sept. 12, Mt. Carmel Moose, here; Sept. 19, Orkin Extremators, here; Sept. 26, Eldorado Merchants, there.

Eldorado Defeats Johnston City Merchants, 13-5

The Eldorado Merchants defeated the Johnston City Merchants Sunday, 13-5, in a game played at the town park diamond in Raleigh.

Johnston City jumped out to a two-run lead in the first inning, scored two more in the second and a lone run in the fourth. Eldorado counted four times in the second inning, had a big sixth, counted two more in the fifth and one in the eighth. For Eldorado it was 13 runs on 14 hits while Johnston City scored five runs and also had 14 hits.

Pacing the hitting for Eldorado was Hagan and Hartford, each with three blows. Dick Griffith, Thaxton and Bartoicki each had two hits and Malone and Gidcomb had one each to round out the 14-hit attack. Eldorado's hits included five doubles and a triple. Malone's bit gave him a record of hitting in eleven consecutive games.

briefly by Bob Davenport, master of ceremonies for the beauty show.
During the interview Miss Bruce revealed she is a student at Southern Illinois university and plans to be a kindergarten teacher. She was a sophomore at SIU last term.

As the girls were introduced Miss Rita Davenport held up large cards showing the sponsor of the candidate. Miss Gollither was sponsored by Myrons; Miss Simpson was sponsored by Mac's Goodyear and Miss Hamm's sponsor was Skaggs pharmacy.

Jack Davenport was master of ceremonies for the automobile show. The shiny, new models were driven to a spot in front of the grandstand, and with a spotlight on the car the doors were opened so that both the interior and exterior could be seen by the crowd and the car was briefly described.

180,000 Watch Legionnaires Parade in Rain

CHICAGO (AP) — Six thousand legionnaires braved rain showers to march down Michigan Avenue and end the four-day state American Legion convention Sunday.

Military groups represented in the 1½-mile-long parade were from the Great Lakes Naval Training Station, 5th Army and the Chanute
Air Force Base at Rantoul.

More than 180,000 persons ignored the rain to watch the procession. About 40 bands and drum and bugle corps participated in the line of march, which included floats, "Leaping Lena's" of the 40 and 8 units, and noise "locomotives."

Dignitaries who reviewed the parade at the Congress Street Plaza included Mayor Martin Kennedy; State Atty. Gen. Latham Castle; Secretary of State Charles Carpenter, and John V. Clinin, retired commanding general of the Illinois National Guard.

A place of honor in front of the reviewing stand was reserved for 70 Gold Star mothers, guests of the legion.

Dodge, and Barham-Green Inc.,
Ford.

This marked the sixth year for the Beauty Pageant at the Saline County Fair. Miss Peggy Black of Eldorado was Queen last year.
None of the former Beauty Queens were on the program Saturday night.

Before and during the show appropriate organ music was played with Mrs. Helen Asbell and Miss Mona Wickam taking turns at the organ.

BITTER SAGE

By Frank Gruber

Copyright 1954 by Frank Gruber

THE STORY: Sage City is a wide-open trail town in Kansas, at the terminus of the railroad.
Wes Tancred, alias John Bailey, has taken a job as a printer on the paper run by Luke Miller, who is fighting to make Sage City a decent town. Tancred is the man who killed the outlaw Sam Older, who became a legendary figure after his death. Tancred enters the Texas Saloon and hears a girl singing the ballad of Sam Older's death.

V

Tancred had heard the song a thousand times, in cow camps, in railroad camps, deep down in mines. In towns and villages, in theaters and in saloons, on the streets and in houses.

He heard it now in the Texas
Saloon, in Sage City, Kan.

The girl finished the song and the applause was thunderous. She left the stage and worked her way through the crowds to the bar.

Tancred saw now that she had gorgeously golden hair, a smooth, fine complexion... and tired eyes of the palest blue.

She said to Tancred, "Your beer's gone flat. Have another."
She signaled to the bartender.
"Give the gentleman a fresh glass, Chippy."

Tancred nodded. "Can I buy you a drink?"

"You don't have to. I own the place."

"I'll still buy you a drink."

"Why? You didn't like my singing. You didn't applaud."

"I've heard the song before."

"Who hasn't? But they still want it." She looked at him thoughtfully. "You're not a Texas man."

He shook his head.

"Gambler?"

"Printer."

"You work for Luke Miller?"

"You said that just like the hotel man," Tancred said.

"Luke Miller wants to clean up Sage City. From his point of view that's probably the right thing. But I run a saloon. So do a lot of other people in this town. The saloon-keepers want an everything-goes town." The proprietor of the Texas Saloon smiled at Tancred. "You see, it all depends on where you stand. What's good for one isn't good for another. By the way, my name is Lily Leeds. It used to be Maggie Leeds, but Lily sounds better than Maggie."

"My name is Bailey."

A lean, sardonic-eyed man at Tancred's left turned. "Bailey, did you say?" He wore a badge on which was the word, "Marshal."

"Mr. Bailey," Lily Leeds said,
"Marshal Lee Kinnaird."

The marshal nodded, his eyes full on Tancred's face. "That wouldn't be John Bailey?"

"Why, yes."

"You worked for the stage line at Turkey Crossing?"

Tancred hesitated, then nodded.

Marshal Kinnaird gave a low whistle. "I got a Wichita paper yesterday. It had a piece about you."

"I haven't seen the paper, so I don't know what it said."

The marshal pursed his lips.

"It said that three men killed Vesser, the station agent. It also said that the horse wrangler then killed said three men." The marshal paused. "With exactly three shots."

"That's shooting," said Lily.

"And you're a printer?"

"I've been a printer for quite a few years," said Tancred. "The job at Turkey Crossing was only a temporary one. Until last week I hadn't fired a gun in quite a while."

Lily signaled to the bartender.

"Chippy, beers for Mr. Bailey and the marshal."

The marshal raised his glass to Tancred. "John Bailey." He quaffed some of the beer. "A printer."

"Who works for Luke Miller," Lily added.

Kinnaird grinned. "I'm still drinking."

"You're against Miller?" Tancred asked.

"The mayor hired me and he can fire me. And who do you think is the mayor of Sage City?"
The marshal looked covertly over the season had arrived. Much of the money that would be paid to Hong Kong Smith would find its way eventually into Fugger's hands' through one or another of the channels that Fugger owned or controlled.

Ten years ago, at the age of 45, Fugger had been a clerk in a dry-goods store, back in a small Ohio town. All he had had to look forward to was another 20 or 30 years of drudgery, the accumulation of a paltry few dollars every year by personal scrimping.

He was a withering, aging man at 45, without hope. And then, one night, there had been a burglary at the store. Five hundred dollars in cash had been taken.
Fugger was not suspected of course. He had been at the store too long.

But Jacob Fugger had been the burglar.
